Left Field NYC Cone Mills Natural Indigo Jeans

Jan 13, 2016 | New Releases | by Gerald Ortiz

American-made goods have made a resurgence in recent years, especially for small batch denim brands. From American-made fabric to American-made hardware, these denim duds have often had it all done right here in the States. However, the quest for American grown natural plant indigo is one that's produced few fruits—until now.

Produced in all three of their fits, Left Field NYC has put the Cone Mills Natural Indigo denim to good use. The denim uses American-grown all natural plant indigo which has resulted in a bright vintage blue shade. At 16oz., it's a bit weighty, too. As always, you can find signature Left Field details on each of the fits: hidden rivets, bandana print pocket bags, as well as skull branded buttons and rivets.
